Sunday School Convention is Enthusiastic But Poorly Attended

Although the first Convention of its kind to be held in these parts, it is to be regretted that more people did not take interest enough in Sunday School work to be present at this gathering. At the best-attended meeting, only about thirty people were present.

The Convention was held under the auspices of the Religious Education Council of Alberta, whose aim it is to promote and inspire Sunday School work. The organization is inter-denominational.

A district has been formed, called the Coronation district which includes the territory between Coronation and the Saskatchewan border, with contributing country. The General Constitution was read and adopted. Instructive and well-appreciated addresses were given by Rev. McLean and Mr. A. W. Forgie. During the sessions, the following officers were elected, for this district.

President. Mrs. Conquest of Altario.

Vice-Pres. Rev. W. S. Wickenden, of Monitor.

Secretary. Mrs. R. W. Fish of Kirriemuir.

Executive. The Reverends Brown, Boyd and Scruggs, and Mr. Wilson.

Local Happenings

The O. N. O. Girls Club are giving a Whist Drive in the Big Hall on December the 10th Friday. Keep this in mind.

The Harmony Co-Ede played to a very small house last Friday. They certainly did not deserve a larger house. The opening number was good consisting of an orchestral selection. Two violins, cello and piano. The individual instrumental solos were good, but ye gods, as singers and elocutionists, they were extremely good astronomers. Miss Thornburg was the only one of the company who "put anything over" in the vocal line.

W. H. Olson paid a brief visit to Kirriemuir last Sunday.

Monitor was visited by a Provincial Health Officer last Thursday. We understand several complaints have been registered at Headquarters, and that the Village is being requested to install a system of scavenging, whereby the unsightly and unsanitary piles of refuse now in evidence, will be removed and kept removed. Its high time.

The Cabinet and Parliament

In order to arrive at a clear understanding of forms and functions of government in Canada it is first of all necessary to have a correct appreciation of the relation which the Cabinet of Ministers has to Parliament. It is a common error for people to call upon the Cabinet, or Government, as it is popularly termed, to do certain things and take certain action which it has no power to do and which power rests exclusively with Parliament itself.

It will perhaps lead to a clearer conception of the functions of the Cabinet, or Government, if it is likened to a board of directors of a Company with Parliament as representing the whole body of shareholders. All the rights, privileges and powers of a Joint Stock Company are conferred upon the shareholders. These shareholders select from among their own number a board of directors to whom is entrusted the management and administration of the Company's business. The directors make rules and regulations for the management of the business, choose the employees, and constitute the active directing head of the business. They make recommendations and reports to the shareholders, and so long as they enjoy the confidence and support of a majority of the shareholders they govern and direct the Company's affairs. But once the directors lose the confidence and support of the shareholders, they are replaced by others possessing that confidence and support.

It will be seen, therefore, that the directors can only exercise such powers as have been conferred upon them by the shareholders. In other words, the directors are but a committee of the shareholders. So, too, is the Cabinet merely an executive and administrative committee of Parliament, and it is restricted to the exercise of such powers as Parliament has delegated to and conferred upon it. Parliament alone can pass laws; the Cabinet cannot do so. Hence Governments are frequently asked by individuals and delegations to do things which they cannot do because the Acts passed by Parliament do not authorize such action.

The Cabinet has the power to make regulations for the proper carrying out and administration of Acts passed by Parliament and to issue Orders-in-Council under those Acts, but it cannot vary the provisions of the Acts nor go beyond the powers conferred by the Acts. The Government, too, is restricted in the expenditure of money to the amount voted by Parliament, except in cases of emergency arising when Parliament is not in session.

In such cases a special warrant of the Governor-in-Council must be issued to cover such unforeseen expenditure, and immediately upon the re-assembling of Parliament in session, such expenditure must be reported to and approved by it. If such approval is refused, the Government must resign.

In like manner, should an amount in excess of any appropriation made by Parliament be expended, a supplementary estimate must be obtained from Parliament to cover such over-expenditure.

Acting as the executive and administration committee of Parliament, the Cabinet Ministers constitute the advisers of the Crown, and the Ministers are responsible to Parliament for all such advice tendered. If the advice is bad, the Ministers, not the Crown, must suffer the consequences. Furthermore, the Crown is precluded from accepting advice from any other source. Should such advice be tendered, it is the duty of the Crown to submit it to the Prime Minister as head of the Government, and the Government, not the Crown, is responsible for its final acceptance or rejection.

What is here outlined in regard to the Dominion Government and Parliament applies in like manner to the Provincial Governments and the Legislative Assembly.

The analogy drawn above between the board of directors of a Company and the shareholders on the one hand, and the Cabinet and Parliament on the other, is not absolutely correct, because whereas in Company Management the shareholders possess all the power, Parliament is but representative of the people who, in the last analysis, are the shareholders of Canada, and the people are, therefore, the final court of appeal in all matters of government. However, the people delegate their powers to their representatives in Parliament and, therefore, to all intents and purposes, the analogy holds good.

In the next article in this series consideration will be given to the division of authority between the Dominion and the Provinces, a division which is frequently the cause of misunderstanding leading to demands on Provincial Governments and Legislatures for action in regard to matters over which they have no control but which come within the sole jurisdiction of the Federal authority.

Health In Humor.

Possibly there are doctors with a depressing manner, but we fancy they are exceptional cases, and most people who have ever lain on a sick bed will gratefully recognize what they owe to the brightness and hope their medical attendant has brought with him. The pity is that other physicians and other patients do not learn from the doctor the health-giving qualities of cheerfulness. It is a remedy the world needs more than ever just now for its manifold ills.—Yorkshire Post.

Alberta Cattle Winter in Okanagan.
An interesting experiment will be conducted at the Experimental Farm in the Okanagan with 50 head of young cattle, which have been brought from Calgary ranches for winter feeding and will be fitted for market by spring. In the feeding of these cattle a test will be made of the comparative value of sunflower and corn silage; half will be fed with sunflowers and the other half with corn. The relative building values of these foods will therefore be determined.

Farmers and Motors

One-Third of the Automobiles in U.S.

Seven and a half million motor cars are reconstructing America, and one-third of the owners are farmers. The largest percentage of increase in automobile registration has been in the cotton-growing sections of the south. These points are revealed in "Facts and Figures," an annual published by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

Following the Civil War was the day of the railroad, when vast territories were opened up with a resulting increase in prosperity. Following the World War has come a marked increase in motor trucks and passenger automobiles. 316,364 motor trucks were built during 1919, an increase of 39 per cent. over 1918.

WOULD NOT BE WITHOUT BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Once a mother has used Baby's Own Tablets for her little one she would not be without them. They are the ideal home remedy for the baby: being guaranteed to be absolutely free from opiates or other harmful drugs. They are a gentle but thorough laxative and have been proved of the greatest aid in cases of constipation, indigestion, colic, colds and simple fevers. Concerning them, Mrs. Ernest Gagne, Beauséjour, Que., writes: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for constipation and colic and have found them so successful that I would not be without them. I would strongly recommend every mother to keep a box in the house." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Canada Is Land Of Promise.

The British Overseas Settlement Committee, according to advices from London, has received nearly 50,000 applications from ex-service men and women for emigration to all parts of the Empire. About one-fifth of the applications are women who intend to take up domestic or land work. Canada is the favorite dominion. Between 6,000 and 7,000 applicants express a preference for this country while Australia, New Zealand and South Africa are next in order of popularity. With dependents the total involved is well over 100,000 persons. The lists for ex-service men close December 31, and applications are now pouring in at the rate of 1,000 a week.

Nation-wide Fame.—There is scarcely a corner of this great Dominion where the merits of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil have not been tried and proved. It is one of the world's most efficient remedies for sore throat, lame back and many other ailments arising from inflammation. Rubbed on the skin its healing power is readily absorbed, and it can also be taken internally.

For Protection of Lake Shipping

Great Lakes Are Now to Have Wireless Compass Depots.

Wireless compass stations, similar to those which have been in successful operation on the North Atlantic coast for more than a year, are to be installed along the Great Lakes. These stations, operated by the U.S. Navy Department, enable the operators to give ships lost in a fog their positions within a narrow radius of accuracy.

Fogs on the Upper lakes have claimed one freighter and 30 lives as victims this year, and the record of previous years shows a heavy toll of shipping. Success of the system on the Atlantic coast led to its recent installation on the Pacific and now, it is announced, the inland waters will be similarly protected.

Eggs and Civilization

The Egg Contains the Vital Principle Of Growth of the Body.

The world has grown better since the discovery of the egg and the growth of civilization has kept pace with the growth of the egg-eating habit—two contemporaneous facts, though their exact correlation may not be capable of demonstration. But from the facts of the case we may be warranted in concluding that a still greater consumption of hens' eggs would not hinder the coming of a more civilized world. Why should not the facts be correlated when the egg contains the vital principle of growth of the body and also a substance that nourishes the brain—an article of food that is responsible for both body growth and mental quickening? Why should we not eat more eggs and look for a higher civilization?—James Dryden.

ALTARIO

The Nurses Home adjoining the Hospital is nearing completion and in a week or two will be ready for occupation. It is a decidedly neat looking Cottage and will prove a boon and a comfort after the pioneering life in the tents these Red Cross ladies had to endure.

Skating is in full swing every evening and we hear is preferred by some young folks to the Concert Parties that offered counter attractions. We know why!

Several Altarions intend visiting Kirrie this week to take in the Concert and Bazaar which the ladies of the W. I. and Aid are staging. With Mrs. Kay as concert director it is sure to be well worth hearing.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Watling and Jimmie returned home after a stay in Vegreville.

Caroline Shannon has gone to Calgary for the winter to take up business life again.

A large party of Altarions visited Compeer for the Chicken Supper and bidding was brisk at the Bazaar for the home cooking and daintily made garments of the Ladies Aid members.

"Cupid" is in town and very busy at skating parties shooting Altario "Arrows" in the most approved style.

Sunday School attendance is most encouraging 26 little and big people were present last Sunday afternoon.

Musical and Dramatic practices are in full swing every week and stage whispers reach us that the coming concert on the 10th for the Hospital will be up to standard.

Mrs. I Perrell and family are moving in to town for the winter—living over the shop in the new house just built.

Mrs. Dave Thomas has moved to town to the Galvin home. We are glad to have her here.

She turned toward the house and he turned and walked beside her.

"You can't help my seeing you, you can't help my loving you, you can't help my winning you," he whispered fiercely.

She paused and faced him.

"You will make me hate you," she said quietly, "as I go away."

They were in the shadow of the milk-house and the building hid them from the others.

"I ask you to marry me, will you?"

"No."

"He caught his breath."

"I come of good family. I will take you to a big city. I will give you a fine home," he urged.

The girl recoiled from him. He reached out for her, but she sprang aside, and bracing her feet, she struck out with all her young strength.

She was no weak lady, reared in an artificial atmosphere. She was a woman of the wild, strong and supple and courageous. It never occurred to her to call out. She obeyed the law she knew; she struck out.

Simpson caught the full force of her blow on his face, and, already unsteady from the effects of drink, he staggered back and would have fallen had not the building supported him.

He struggled up, a broad, manly face by surprise and pain.

She stood before him tall and straight, her eyes blazing, her face set like marble, her fine nostrils dilated.

From across the clearing came the cheering voices of the winners of the day.

Once in the low-lying bushlands Simpson had seen a doe brought to bay by a timber-wolf. He remembered the picture now.

"Why did you do it?" he asked.

"What else could I do?" she answered.

She pulled down a branch of a maple and leaned her head against it.

The rough bark caressed her hot cheek and the sweet sappy aroma entered her soul and soothed it.

"Why did you not call out or scream like other girls would have done?"

She lifted her head and looked at him with compassion almost.

His eyes fell on her.

"I understand," he murmured.

From the newly raised structure came a renewed cheering.

"If they kicked a boy knew—"

She commenced, then checked herself.

He started, and the perspiration broke out on his forehead.

"That would mean hanging for him," he laughed unconvincingly.

"That's why I didn't call out like other girls would have done," she returned quietly.

His hands clenched and the blood mounted to his cheeks.

"Then I count for nothing," he said bitterly.

"I can't understand why you will take risks," she said, ignoring his last utterance.

"The folks of the woods have learned a lesson from the wild things here. Nothing in all the wide woods ever goes where it's dangerous to go, if they know it. You had better go back to the clearing, teacher."

"I don't want to see you hurt. I don't seem to want anything hurt. You had better go back to the clearing!"

"Boy McAvish advised me to do that in those few words," he answered.

"But listen, I'm a fool not a coward. I have made up my mind to have you, Gloss, and have you I will—remember that."

He turned away into the timber.

Gloss entered the house and lit the candles.

A twilight fresh with wood-scented dew and fragrant with smoke of the clearing-fires. On the floor beside the fireplace sprawled the form of Daft David. He was fast asleep, and Pepper, the coon, lay coiled up close beside him. One of the lad's arms encircled the pet and the little animal's pointed nose was hidden among the long golden curls. Gloss bent and stroked those curls softly and something warm and wet splashed down and awoke the Nature child.

He scrambled up, his great eyes blinking at the light; then, bending, the boy raised Pepper and placed him in Gloss's arms.

She sat down on a stool before the fire and gathered the little bush-child close to her. The raccoon sniffed her red cheeks and nuzzled her soft throat caressingly, and David, clinging to her hands, poured forth the story of his day's adventures.

The girl listened, now and then smiling, understanding, as she did so well, those little pictures that the daft child was painting for her. She saw the gray tang of marsh with the great dead elm lying across it; saw the ragged home of the mink and the tall elm where his enemy, the bald-headed cat, sat poised and watchful.

When, at last, happy voices were heard coming down the path she arose with all the old-time gladness astir in her heart. No new and strange shadow could linger for long where the joy-songs of many glad days could be brought to life by memory.

And hugging the tiny daft boy close, she whispered:

"What could I do without you, David?"

"Oh, I do declare," cried Mrs. Deculte, as she came ranting in, "if here she ain't, right here, and that blessed boy David with her, too. Give my life if it don't heat all Mrs. Ross's!"

"Bless her!" exclaimed the widow, "and to think that we've been wonderin' where she had slipped off to. I'll just swing the kettle on, Mrs. Deculte, so we won't have the hungry men waitin'."

My, but I do expect they'll enjoy that custard!"

"Leave us alone for that," laughed Pepper, who had entered and was drying his face on the long towel hanging behind the door.

Deculte came forward, followed by a tall, broad-shouldered man dressed in red flannel shirt and buckskins.

"Here's Amos Broadbrook," grinned the master of the house, "an' he declares he's fearful hungry."

"You're right, welcome, Amos," cried Mrs. Deculte, pushing her progeny into a neat pile in one corner of the room, "but I'm sorry to see you've been drinkin' again."

"C'min' to quit now," pledged Broadbrook, seating himself on a stool.

His head was small and bullet-shaped, his neck thick, and his hair a light red. His heavy face was coarse and made further unbecoming from the fact that he had but one eye, having had the other knocked out by an arrow in early youth while playing buffalo-hunt with his brothers.

Having spoken, he relapsed into sullen silence, and glowered about him occasionally, venturing no remark and making no move until supper was announced.

Then he sprang up and was one of the first to seat himself at the long table in the inner room.

Watching him, Mrs. Ross sighed and shook her head so forcefully that the tea she was pouring from the great tin pot missed the cup and splashed down on the upturned nose of Goliath, thereby clanging that agreeable canine into a yelping bunch of legs and fur that speedily made its way out through the open door.

"Poor thing," sympathized Mrs. Ross.

"Nshaw, he ain't hurt any. It serves him right. He's a-lays snoogin' 'round where he ain't want d, anyway," cried Mrs. Deculte, placing a dripping roast of venison on a big platter.

"I ain't talkin' about the dog. I mean Amos Broadbrook," said the widow.

"Ain't it too bad he drinks so hard and is so shiftless?"

"I'll tell you something that is no secret," whispered the hostess. "That ain't no Broadbrook alive that's with anything, an' that's any of 'em dead as is, then only old Nick himself knows it."

Mrs. Peeler, a little, small-faced woman with mild eyes, looked up from her potato-mashing with a start.

"My, my," she sighed, "are they that bad, Mrs. Deculte?"

That lady nodded grimly.

"While they be eatin' in my lum I will say no more than what I have observed 'em doin'."

"That wouldn't be hospitable o' me. But after they've eat an' gone—" she compressed her lips and frowned severely, "I'll tell you more about them outlaws."

"Dear me," sighed Mrs. Peeler again. Then she glanced around. "Where is Mary Ann and Gloss gone?" she asked.

"Oh, they slipped over t' Me's to see how the little mother was reskin'."

"Where is Mary Ann and Gloss gone?" she asked.

Hand-Picked Settlers

Immigration Is a Very Important Matter in National Consideration.

The influx of people and capital into Canada are the Dominion's greatest needs—in fact, her only requirements.

Canada has everything to offer in a raw, undeveloped state from her vast areas of rich agricultural lands, to the rich mineral deposits so generally distributed, waiting to give support to countless manufacturing and industrial plants.

Emigration looms up a very important matter in national consideration. Yet in her realization of the urgent need of new peoples to raise the status of the land to the standard, her potential productivity warrants, Canada sees the wisdom of keeping her sons and daughters of a high type, and refusing to throw open her doors to the world's flotsam and jetsam.

Canadian standards are high, and the Dominion expects that those of the same status and foster it, and shall on entry be possessed of those qualities which make this possible. They shall be healthy, industrious, free from disease, and with sufficient capital to keep them until they find work.

"An' your boy, Ed. Do you know what that boy said to me when I was in givin' a second h'bin' of tea just now?"

"He said, 'Missus Ross, says he, 'I haven't got anythin' worth waitin' as yet, 'cause I've been waitin' for that custard.' The sky rascal!"

Mrs. Peeler's blue eyes danced with pride.

"Ed is awful lively," she smiled. "There's no keepin' him quiet."

"Mr. Ross says he's a smart boy," said Mrs. Ross, "says he takes to book learnin' like a squirrel t' a nut."

"Oh, and how do you like the teacher, widder?"

"I like her, Ed-rate."

"And Mary Ann?"

Mrs. Ross glanced about her. Then she bent over and whispered in the other woman's ear.

"No," exclaimed that little lady; "you don't say so!"

"Judgin' from appearances, it looks that way, dear," smiled the widow. "But not a word to anyone else, Libby. I haven't told a single soul, but you."

"It don't seem to me that Mary Ann would take to a man like him," said Mrs. Peeler. "He don't seem to fit her somehow. I always thought and hoped that Bill Paisley would meet her, for a favor, widder."

Mrs. Ross opened her mouth as if to speak, then closed it again on second thought.

"My, I must get in with th' custard," she cried, and hurried away.

Gloss and Mary Ann entered the kitchen with Daft David between them.

"Oh, you've come back, my dears have you?" smiled Mrs. Peeler. "I'm glad you got back so soon. How's she now, Gloss?"

"Awful bad," answered Gloss. "I'm goin' right back, and will you tell uncle to come soon? Don't say anything to Roy, but just whisper to uncle to come as soon as he can. She misses him so much. Now, I must go. You explain to 'em all how it is."

Mrs. Peeler, with you?"

"You're not goin' back alone," protested Mary Ann. "Just wait, we'll send—"

Gloss put her hand on her friend's arm.

"I don't want anyone to know just how bad she is—not to-night. It would only spoil the evening's fun for them, and I'm not scared—why, I have little David."

Hillanvale Social Is Successful

Hillanvale Box and Dance Social was a great success. As usual the School room was crowded.

Dancing started at 9 p.m. to the sweet strains of a violin

About 9.30 word was received that a travelling menagerie or huge chicken coop was on the road—It might have been either but it proved to be neither, for it was a lively lot of young folks from Monitor in a hay rack.

The Sale of baskets and boxes started at 11.30 p.m.

Great praise is due to the ladies for their artistic taste and ingenuity in decorating the inside and out.

The recitations were given "The Owl Critic" by Mrs. Foster and "Betsey and here out" by Miss G. Wisner. Mr. John Mitchell sang a hunting song with great gusto and Mr. Venoit also sang.

After supper dancing was again to fore. Towards dawn the party broke up. The proceeds of the sale amounted to $87.25 for Organ Fund.

Look to the Foundations

For the first time in the history of the United States the population of the cities and towns at present exceeds the rural population. This is the interesting but at the same time disquieting fact disclosed by the recent census of the republic. While all the figures have not yet been tabulated, examination of the returns is sufficiently far advanced to warrant the above statement, according to officials.

It has, of course, been known for a long time that one of the effects of the wonderful industrial activity brought about in the United States by the war was the exodus of people to the larger centres of population to which they were attracted by the prevailing high wages and by a demand for workers which opened to energetic and capable men, and women, too, splendid opportunities for a rapid advancement. Then, too, thousands of young men drafted from the farm into the army have not returned to the land upon their discharge from military service which, if it did not actually take them overseas, brought them into cantonments and camps on the outskirts of centres of population and introduced them to city life.

The same shifting of population is, unfortunately, taking place in Canada. While it is doubtful if the urban population of the Dominion has actually outstripped the rural, as in the United States, we are on the high road to such a development. In the old farming Province of Ontario this has already taken place, and but for the fact that the three prairie provinces are still dominantly rural, the figures for Canada might easily be similar to those of the United States.

Proportionately it is said that 50,000 fewer Canadians are engaged in agriculture today than in 1872. According to a recent speech by the Ontario Minister of Agriculture, 30 percent of the population some 48 years ago lived in towns and 70 percent in the country. Today the figures are almost exactly reversed — the 70 percent in Ontario live in the towns.

In a recent article in this column the question was asked as to what was the explanation, and certain views were expressed as to steps that might be taken to check this disastrous tendency on the part of young people to get away from the land. Nothing is to be gained, however, by blinking the fact, now generally recognized and admitted, that the industrial advancement of the Dominion has been encouraged at the expense of the agricultural. Country life has not been made attractive enough at a time when the attractions of city life have multiplied amazingly; farming has not been sufficiently remunerative during a period when mounting wages coupled with steadily shorter hours of labor have called their appeal from the cities.

The natural, the inevitable result is the increase in the consuming public and the decrease in the number of producers. As Hon. Mr. Doherty put it: "We have believed that big smokestacks spell happiness and prosperity. . . . But the real solution of all our troubles is increased agricultural production." Who can question this?

Surveys of the monetary equivalent of the return of the average farmer in the Dominion were recently made showing that the majority were making less than $1,000 a year. Thirty cents an hour was the average wage of both a farmer and his wife on a 100-acre farm in the year of the armistice—a figure which the unskilled city laborer and charwoman would reject with scorn. Needless to say such a return is in itself sufficient to explain why the second generation deserts the farm, without giving consideration to other factors in the problem.

There never was a time when the agricultural industry needed more generous assistance and encouragement. It calls for the best thought on the part of all Governments and public bodies. The Dominion is growing top heavy, and while those at the top may not at the moment fully realize their danger, they are occupying a perilous position, and in their own interests and for their future self-protection it is high time they began to look to the agricultural foundations upon which all industry in Canada primarily rests.

More little ones die during the hot weather than at any other time of the year. Baby's Own Tablets should always be kept in the house where there are young children. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The South African Sweet
A remarkable sweet substance in the leaves of a South African plant was brought to notice several years ago, and was declared to be 180 times as sweet as cane sugar. The material has been found to be not a true sugar but a glycerine. The plant seems to have been difficult to obtain, but the U. S. Department of Agriculture has succeeded in getting a number of ounces of the dried leaves and a small quantity of the seed. The leaves are reported to be as sweet as saccharin, the marvelous coal tar product.

Crop Prospects

Estimates Wheat Yield at 250,000,000 Bushels

Canada's wheat fields will yield from 226,000,000 to 250,000,000 bushels this year. This estimate has been made by W. A. Black, vice-president and managing director of the Ogilvie Milling Company, and is based upon crop reports received by the company from its agents. Compared with last year's yield, this is an increase of 50,000,000 to 75,000,000 bushels.

The indications of worms are restlessness, grinding of the teeth, picking of the nose, extreme peevishness, often convulsions. Under these conditions the best remedy that can be got is Miller's Worm Powders. They will attack the worms as soon as administered and will grind them to atoms that pass away in the evacuations. The little sufferer will be immediately eased and a return of the attack will not be likely.

Peddle German Money

Smart Salesmen From U. S. Pick Up Fortune in Ontario

It is reported that two smart salesmen from across the line, both of German descent, have been peddling German marks, or coupons therefore, through the German settlements of western Ontario, particularly around Hanover, Tavistock and Shakespeare. They are said to get a commission of fifty cents on the dollar and to have cleaned up a hundred thousand dollars in one week. Apparently they are working on behalf of New York curb brokers.

The people among whom they are working are extremely conservative, and prefer to leave their money at three and a half percent in the savings bank than risk it in speculation. But the appeal is racial. They are told that the money they invest will help to put the fatherland on its feet, and that then, with the mark restored to par value, they will make a great profit. Needless to say they are paying a great deal more than current exchange for the mark, which they could buy over any Canadian bank counter.

Among the victims it is said that two old Mennonite ladies took their life savings of ten thousand dollars out of the savings bank and invested the money in German marks at two or three times their current value price.

Indians Have Good Crops

Indians in the three prairie provinces will have an excellent crop this year, according to information to W. M. Graham, Commissioner at Regina. They have approximately 70,000 acres in crop, roughly divided as follows:

From the Diary of A Hudson's Bay Clerk in the Seventies

By O-G-E-MAS-ES (Little Clerk).

(Copyrighted)

Next morning, and I hoped the last morning, as our breakfast was tea and crumbs from an empty provision sack, I was taking my spell ahead with lines on the head of my small snowshoes to help lift the weight of snow. I suddenly looked round and found that the bary had stopped. On turning and marching back to investigate, I found one of the drivers (Mus-qui-a-tik) a hard young case, with his sleigh pulled to one side and he busy unlashing it. I thought for a minute, then realized it had come to a show-down, for he was going to leave his load of invaluable ammunition on the ice and no doubt the others would follow suit. This was mutiny—rank mutiny.

All the men were watching me, as I was busy tramping down a cock-pit about two feet square. On finishing this I took off my L'assomption belt and capot. Then, in a loud voice, I challenged Mus-qui-a-tik in these words: "We would fight. If he was the best man the load could stay on the ice, and if I was, the load would go on intact." A deep silence followed. Mus-qui-a-tik looked me up and down, and finally turning to his sleigh he commenced re-lashing it. A cheer broke from the rest of the men and the outfit went on, leader succeeding leader, and late that evening we reached The Pass.

Seeing every load unpacked and carried in the store houses, with rations and dog feed given out, I finally went to the office. Dear old Alick M. was like a hen with her chicks. "Such a trip you have had. How did you stand it," and so on. While he talked I was losing my moccasins and duffles (northern travellers know we wrap our feet in squares and do not use made socks). Every toe was cut and bleeding, matter had formed on the bottoms of both my feet, and on jerking off my wrappings a glance was enough for the Chief. "He became violently sick at his stomach, and truly it was a nasty sight. I had hid them from the men for the last two days. No doubt some of my readers have experienced the same pangs, but of all kinds of pain that is hard to endure, it is when the snowshoe lines have cut your feet and the next morning as the scabs are slowly rubbed off, you must still stand it and tramp on with an unconcerned air, nevertheless biting your lips till the blood comes. Over the top all right, with apologies to the boys from the front.

Before I wind up this article I must tell you another dog story and a good little for it would be "The Cannibal Dog." After the seven dog trains had been made up, there were, as usual, several misfits whom no one wanted, and these gained a precarious living by stealing the other dog's fish at feeding time. Notorious amongst these was a grey husky from Lac du Brochet, who showed the wolf strain plainly, and was bad to handle. He had to bite something, either you or his train-mates, so I christened him Wen-digo, or "evil spirit." We all tried him, but he got worse, so was for the present chained up in the woodshed. One morning our French cook, Louis la Liberte, came in while we were at breakfast, with a very pale face, and addressing the Chief, said, "Please, sir, Master, Wendigo has turned cannibal." "What do you mean, Louis?" "Come and see, sir," and on both of us going out to the shed, here was Wendigo growling furiously, turning round and round, while biting mouthfuls of living flesh out of his haunches and swallowing them, blood, hair and all. The sight was too much for the Chief, and turned him sick. "Kill the brute at once, and take him away," was the order. So, getting a small revolver, I was very proud of, I fired six rounds into his head and told Louis to drag his body down on the ice.

That evening at dog feeding time, who should come staggering up the bank with his head as big as a pal, but unconquerable Wendigo. A council was held, execution was the sentence, and an axe and block obtained. Then the head was severed from his body and placed on the ice a distance apart. So ended Wendigo, and this article.

Faint and Dizzy Spells. Weakness and Shortness of Breath.

You can generally tell when the heart is affected by the faint and dizzy spells, the shortness of breath, palpitation, throbbing, irregular beating, smothering sensations, weak, sinking, all-gone feeling, choking sensation, etc.

Many men and women become rundown and worn out when otherwise they could be strong and healthy if they would only pay some attention to the first sign of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

No remedy will do so much to make the heart regain strength and vigor, regulate its beat and restore it to a healthy and normal condition as Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Mrs. C. A. S. Drake, Paris, Ont., writes:—"I have come on towards the second box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and find they have done me good. I had those fainting, dizzy spells, once in a while, and also weakness and shortness of breath, and would become so choked up at times I could hardly sleep without sitting up in bed. When walking too fast I would have to stop and try to catch my breath. I feel a lot better since I have used your pills and know that they have helped me wonderfully as I have improved very much."

More Sinn Féin Plots

Accused of Planning to Destroy Property in Liverpool and Manchester.

LONDON.—A conspicuous incident in the Irish debate in the House of Commons was the revelation by Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland, of Sinn Féin plans to destroy property in Liverpool and Manchester—a revelation which was greeted by Joseph Devlin with the exclamation: "All that was written in Dublin Castle."

Former-Premier Asquith moved a resolution expressing abhorrence of the recent Dublin assassinations and condemnation of reprisals and urging immediate steps to bring about Irish pacification. An amendment by Col. John Ward converted this motion into an expression of admiration for the courage and devotion of the crown forces in Ireland. This was adopted by 303 to 83, and the motion as thus amended was adopted by acclamation and ministerial cheers.

Complete Line To Fort McMurray.

Edmonton.—Premier Stewart has returned from a ten-day trip over the A.G. and W. Railway to Fort McMurray. He says that about $100,000 has been spent by the Government in improvements to the waterways system this fall. During the winter, 300,000 ties will be got out for repair work and by next fall it is hoped to have a regular service in operation to Fort McMurray.

Awaiting Final Returns

Ottawa Will Not Take Action On Referendum Until Returns Are Complete.

Ottawa.—Complete returns of the voting on the bone-dry referendum on Oct. 25 in the three prairie provinces are still lacking at Ottawa. In view of the fact that the time within which the returning officers must send in their figures has practically expired, it is expected that they will all be received shortly and formally gazetted. There is no possibility of the necessary proclamations making the results of the voting effective being issued within 60 days. It is probable that the Government authorities, in order to avoid any possibility of legal complications, will wait the full two months before taking action.

McGill Secures $6,321,511.

Montreal.—The McGill University centennial endowment fund reached a grand total of $6,321,511, thus exceeding its objective by over a million and a quarter dollars, it was announced in the final statement of the amount of the subscriptions at the banquet which closed the campaign.

To Rescue World from Danger

Lord Bryce Says People of Britain and United States Have Special Miss on.

Boston, Mass.—Lord Bryce, former British ambassador to the United States, pictured the world at "the abyss of calamity into which the war has plunged it," in a letter to the Colonial Society of this city. The peoples of Britain and the United States, he said, are specially called to try and rescue the world from the danger. He added that the influence of the United States is prized because "she is impartial, raised above the jealousies and ambitions that vex this distracted Europe."

To Set Date for Parliament Opening.

Ottawa.—One of the matters which is likely to come before the Cabinet Council soon, it is expected, will be the setting of a date for the opening of Parliament. Ministers still speak hopefully of January 20 as the opening date, but there may be a delay of a week or so beyond that.

Proposed Farmers' Pool for the Marketing of Wheat

Wheat Growers of Prairie Provinces and Ontario To Be In Plan.

Calgary.—A proposed farmers' pool for the co-operative marketing of the wheat crop of Canada, was outlined to the U.F.A. secretaries' convention by J. H. Murray, assistant general manager of the United Grain Growers. Mr. Murray announced that a scheme embodying these proposals has been drawn up by a special committee of the Canadian Council of Agriculture, but that until the sanction of all members of the committee had been obtained, the actual contract would not be made public. Mr. Murray did not name the members of the special committee, but it is understood that they are H. W. Wood, president of the U.F.A.; F. W. Riddell, manager of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company; and Mr. Murray.

Provisional board to handle 1921 crop to consist of one representative each of the following organizations: U.F. of Alberta, Saskatchewan Grain Growers, United Farmers of Manitoba, and United Farmers of Ontario. There will be two representatives of the United Grain Growers and two of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company, making a total of eight, who will elect a ninth member as chairman.

Contract holders must sign for a term of five years, binding themselves to sell wheat only through the pool. Fifty per cent. of wheat acreage, or about 8,500,000 acres, to be brought under the scheme. Expenses of operation to be paid from the pool. Wheat grower who signs contract and afterwards sells grain elsewhere, than to the pool to pay 25 cents per bushel as liquidated damages to the pool.

In event it is discovered that contract holder is breaking contract by selling elsewhere, the pool is to be entitled to an injunction to restrain him from such action.

Will Link Up the Peace River and Grande Prairie Districts.

Edmonton, Alta.—As a result of the big program of construction planned and carried out by the Provincial Government, the close of the present year will see another 6,500 miles of pole line added to the telephone system of Alberta with about 16,000 miles of new wire lines available for toll and rural service.

Norman L. Harvey, deputy minister of railways and telephones stated that the contractors will practically complete every foot of the $4,000,000 building program of the present year before the middle of January. This extension of the telephone system carries new lines into almost every section of the province, including the Peace River and Grande Prairie districts.

NEW CHURCH IS NOW CALLED CO-OPERATIVE

Owing to the prevalence in some circles of the local community, of a dislike of the term Union as applied to the new Church building recently completed, we will in future refer to it as the Cooperative Church because of its having been established under the cooperative system mutually agreed upon by the presbyterian and Methodist Churches in Western Canada and endorsed by the Baptist and Congregation Unions.

Regular services of Song and Bible study will be held D. V. every Sunday evening at the hour of 7 o'clock.

On last Sunday evening 1st. Kings 21.3 was made the central idea of a practical and helpful message—the theme of the sermon being that such inheritance as are made sacred and priceless by the passage of time and the struggles of our predecessors should be cherished and treasured as being unpar-chasable.

An interesting feature of these religious services is the practical ten minute talk given for children in story form.

The topic of last Sundays chat being "Parasites"

On Monday evening at the close of School a missionband was organized which will here in after hold Monday evenings as its time of meeting—from 4 to 4.30 o'clock.

Every child in the community is most heartily welcomed and the aim of the meeting is to review the different world Mission fields of Christianity. There were twentyfive children present at the first meeting but there is always room for more.

The attention of the Parents is called to this organization and they are asked to cooperate in the making of future meetings ever increasingly successful.
